Welcome to Our Schools!

School Health & Safety

Our schools follow the guidance of their local health departments, with the goal of keeping schools open as long as it is in the best interest of our students and faculty. Families are reminded that all regular childhood immunizations, which are separate and distinct from COVID-19 vaccinations, must be received before the start of school under State Law. This is outlined in the school handbook.

Early Childhood and Kindergarten

Early Childhood

Classroom environment is an important teacher. We've thoughtfully adapted the environment in our classrooms to help children and families adjust to current circumstances. Click here to learn more.

Center-Based Learning: each academic subject (literacy, math, science and social studies) has its own physical center. As they play, learn, make their own choices and socialize, children develop creative and critical thinking, as well as large and fine motor skills, through active, hands-on exploration.

Kindergarten

Kindergarten at a Catholic School engages kids in learning while having fun in class. Together with their classmates, Kindergarten students will

- Learn to read and build math and science skills

- Enjoy learning-oriented play

- Participate in community service projects to help others

- Grow socially, emotionally and spiritually

- Be successful in elementary school and beyond

Serving Students with Special Needs

We are committed to providing children with learning disabilities (LD), other health impairments (OHI), and speech or language impairment (SPL) with resources that are comparable to those available in local public schools. Prior to admission, the Principal meets with parents to evaluate the child and decide on an approach that best meets the child's needs.

Catholic school students in the Archdiocese of New York continue to show strong academic growth, with increasing percentages of students in grades 3-8 achieving or surpassing grade-level proficiency on the New York State Education Department (NYSED) ELA and Math exams. Notably, Catholic schools have consistently outperformed New York State public schools, reflecting the strength of Catholic education in fostering student success.
